FICTION · PROLOGUE

The Crimson Shoes

VOLUME 1

One afternoon, two paths: suspense or romance. You choose.

Nadya Sacchi

Before the Story Begins

The Crimson Shoes

Sometimes a story begins with a moment so brief it seems insignificant: a glance across the street, an unexpected honk, and a laugh shared by two strangers. For Ernesto and Rafaela, the encounter lasts only seconds, yet it leaves behind a feeling neither can quite explain.

In a city of old streets, golden lights, and hidden goodbyes, a pair of crimson shoes becomes the detail that brings two paths together. But what looks like coincidence may conceal something more: a truth someone is desperate to hide, or an unexpected chance to believe in love again.

The Crimson Shoes invites readers to explore two possibilities. In one, the smallest clues may lead to a disturbing mystery; in the other, a fleeting encounter may open the door to romance. The choice is yours: which path will Ernesto and Rafaela take?

Written by Nadya Sacchi