FICTION · PROLOGUE

Group C

VOLUME 2

One chase, two truths. You choose which one is real.

Nadya Sacchi

Before the Story Begins

Group C

Clara, Carmen, Carolina, and Carlos grew up together, learning early that surviving on the streets can be just as difficult as trusting someone. They have shared escapes, secrets, and a code of their own: a four-note whistle that reminds them that, whatever happens, they belong to the same group.

But when desperation drives them to devise a risky plan to get the money they need, their loyalty is put to the test. A chase, an apple-green coat, and an unexpected alarm are enough to make Clara wonder whether she truly knows the people she has always considered her family.

Group C opens onto two possible paths: one in which betrayal destroys their strongest bond, and another in which loyalty proves that no one should have to face their mistakes alone. The choice is yours: when the moment comes, who will Clara decide to trust?

Written by Nadya Sacchi