The Group C

WRITTEN BY NADYA SACCHI

Clara, Carmen, Carolina, and Carlos grew up together, learning early that surviving on the streets can be just as difficult as trusting someone. They have shared escapes, secrets, and a code of their own: a four-note whistle that reminds them that, whatever happens, they belong to the same group.

But when desperation drives them to devise a risky plan to get the money they need, their loyalty is put to the test. A chase, an apple-green coat, and an unexpected alarm are enough to make Clara wonder whether she truly knows the people she has always considered her family.

Group C opens onto two possible paths: one in which betrayal destroys their strongest bond, and another in which loyalty proves that no one should have to face their mistakes alone. The choice is yours: when the moment comes, who will Clara decide to trust?
